Dialogue 1: Asking someone what movie he/she like

A: Where are we going?

B: I have no idea. Do you have any place in mind?

A: I don't want to go too far. I get carsick.

B: I'd like to go to a quiet place. Out of the city.

A: Okay. Somewhere near but quiet! I think we'd better go to a Buddhist temple.

B: Where's that? What bus should we take?

A: It's just outside the city boundary. It's really peaceful and quiet.

Dialogue 2: Deciding what to see

A: How may I be of service?

B: I'm planning to go on a long vacation this summer.

A: Is there any special activity you like?

B: No. But I want to go to a beach. I love the hot sun.

A: Any estimated budget? And how long are you planning to go?

B: Five thousand dollars for about three weeks.

A: Are you planning to go alone? Then I have a perfect place for you.

Dialogue 3: Persuading others to see what you want

A: Do you have any place in mind?

B: A remote island in the Maldives. Only the two of us within miles.

A: That's just what I had in mind. No TV, no cell phones.

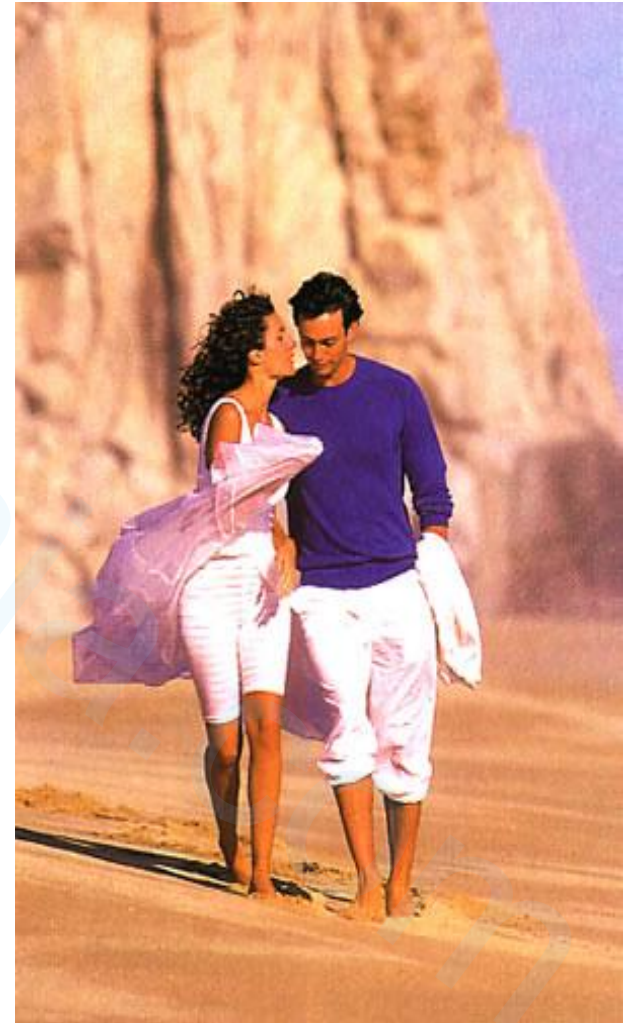

B: Wouldn't it be great? It's our honeymoon!

A: I know. But we really must come down to earth and be rational.

B: You're right. What about a beach in the Philippines?

A: That'll be great! It might not be a remote island. But we're going to have a good time.

B: I know.

Dialogue 4: Choosing a film at a movie theater

A: Let's decide where to go in Europe.

B: What about going to Paris first? They say it's lovely.

A: That's a good idea. We should definitely visit Rome.

B: And Greece! We must go to Greece!

A: Okay. We already have Paris, Rome and Greece. Where else?

B: Switzerland maybe? The Jungfrau. We should go up there.

A: Good idea! Where is our final destination?

B: It should be London. Did you know that my birthplace is London?
